HEROISM WAS LIEUT. HOBSON'S CHOICE.

With Seven Brave Sailors He Volunteered To Enter The Jaws of Death!

Washington, June 4.—(Special.)—A navy bulletin received late this afternoon from Mole St. Nicholas, contained an official report from Admiral Sampson, as follows:

"I succeeded in sinking the collier Merrimac in the channel of the harbor of Santiago de Cuba at 4 a. m., June 3. Naval Constructor Richmond P. Hobson and seven sailors executed it. Afterwards Admiral Cervera, under a flag of truce, sent in a recognition of their bravery. I am told two of them are slightly wounded and all are prisoners of war. I request authority to apply for an exchange, if possible, between these men and the Spanish prisoners at Atlanta. Six of the Spanish ships are in the harbor and are unable to escape without capture or destruction." Signed SAMPSON.

Hobson and the hero crew of the Merrimac were saved in the following manner: Unable after the sinking of their vessel to make their way back through the storm of shot and shell, they rowed into the harbor to the Spanish flagship and were taken on board unharmed. Hobson is a naval constructor, and lieutenant of the junior grade. He was appointed an assistant naval constructor in 1891. He entered the navy from Alabama.

The Merrimac was purchased by the Government from the Lone Star Steamship Company. The transfer was made in Baltimore early in April. She was formerly the Norwegian steamer Solveig, and was nearly destroyed by fire at Newport News in 1896. She was built at Newcastle, England, in 1894, was 330 feet long, 44 feet beam, and had a net register of 2,193 tons. The Merrimac left Norfolk, where she was fitted for Government purposes, about a month ago.

The Hero of the Merrimac---

Alabama is His Home.

Birmingham, Ala., June 4.—(Special.)—Lieut. Richmond P. Hobson, who commanded the Merrimac on its perilous mission in Santiago harbor, is a native of Hale County, Ala., having been born and reared at Greensboro. He is the son of Judge Augustus Hobson, who was Probate Judge of Hale County, Ala., for twenty-five years.

Lieut. Hobson took a high stand at the Naval Academy, finishing at the head of his class. He has been several times assigned to special work on account of his eminent fitness for the same. He is a bold, dashing officer, and no one who knows him is surprised to hear of his remarkable achievement. He belongs to one of the best families in the State.

Madrid Takes a Cheerful View.

The Coal Will Be Appropriated.

Madrid, June 4.—(Special.)—The Minister of Marine sent an official dispatch to-day to the Queen regent and Cortes about the sinking of the Merrimac and the capture of one lieutenant and seven sailors. No reference was made to the fact that Sampson had the Merrimac sunk in order to block the Santiago harbor. The Minister of Marine later said the Spanish fleet would secure the coal that was on the Merrimac and that the sunken vessel would not blockade or bottle the fleet.

Spaniards Clearing the Wreck---

Dynamite Being Used On It.

Port Au Prince, June 4.—(Special.)—Further news received here from Santiago de Cuba confirms the reports that the bombardment of that place began at 3 o'clock yesterday morning.

After the action the Spanish blew up with dynamite the sunken American Collier Merrimac, and have been at work clearing the channels, in all probability, to permit Admiral Cervera's fleet to put out to sea should the Cadiz squadron, under Admiral Camara, arrived in Cuban waters to relieve the blockaded ships.

Bryan Gets His Commission.

He May Be Sent to Manila.

Lincoln, Neb., June 4.—Adj. Gen. Barry has received a telegram from Secretary Alger saying that the Third Regiment volunteer infantry, organized by W. J. Bryan, has been accepted by the Government, and might be added to the contingent going to the Philippines. As soon as this news was received Mr. Bryan was so notified and went to Gov. Holcomb's office and a conference was held, the outcome of which, although it has not yet been publicly announced, was that Bryan was appointed Colonel of the regiment and given his commission.

Facts About The Merrimac---Sunk

By Design In The Channel.

Washington, June 4.—(Special.)—"The cork is driven in the bottle," was the comment of the naval officers at the Navy Department this morning upon the news of the sinking of the Merrimac in the channel at the entrance of Santiago harbor.

Altogether the action is applauded at the Navy Department as a very brilliant strategy move. It is the opinion of naval officers that now that the entrance to the harbor is thus effectively blocked, a couple of monitors, with a swift cruiser and two or three small torpedo or gunboats, will be sufficient to guard the entrance, while Schley and Sampson can go along to convoy the troops to Porto Rico and elsewhere.

BACCALAUREATE SERMON.

By Eld Crossfield at the Christian Church To-night.

The baccalaureate sermon of South Kentucky College will be preached at the Christian church to-night at 8 o'clock by Edd R. H. Crossfield, of Owensboro, one of the best preachers in this end of the State.

Junior exercises and the oratorical contest will be held Tuesday night at the college chapel.

The graduating exercises will come off Wednesday night at Holland's Opera House.

Temperature 94 Yesterday. Yesterday was by two degrees the hottest day of the year. The official thermometer of J. M. Howe registered 94 in the shade.

AT CAMPBELL'S CAVE.

A Merry Party of Juvenile Picnickers There Yesterday.

Mrs. L. H. McKee, Mrs. Molly Lowry, and Mrs. T. D. Armistead chaperoned a party of the little folks who enjoyed a picnic at Campbell's cave yesterday afternoon. Those present were:

Misses Mary Jones, Janie Graham, Maggie Ellis, Lucille Ellis, Mary Anderson, Mannie Walker, Bessie Ware, Clayton Roales, Rowena Wall, Edwina Cook, Susie Cook, Marie and Jean Goldthwaite, Martha Hardwick, Jennie McKee, Mollie Garnett, Mary Cushman, Tillie Moore, Norine Elgin, Katie May Cooper and Jean McKee.

LAST CABLE CUT.

Dispatch Boat Takes the News To Jamaica.

Cuba Is Now Completely Isolated From the Outside World.

Kingston, Jamaica, June 4.—

(Special.)—The last cable strands binding Cuba to the outside world were cut yesterday afternoon by a cable vessel conveyed there by the United States Dispatch boat Dolphin. This black sea crab delved all day along the coast, hour by hour, and its powerful claws at length brought up the barnacle-clustered cable strands and snapped them and now Cuba is isolated.

A DELIBERATE PLAN.

Merrimac Sunk In The Harbor for a Purpose.

Washington, June 4.—The Washington Post this morning says: There is absolutely no doubt in the minds of the naval officials in Washington that the sending of the collier into the harbor was all a prearranged movement on the part of Admiral Sampson. The use of a collier, the unusual hour of the morning, the necessity of blockading the channel so as to relieve some of the ships of the squadron from remaining stationed off Santiago, the importance of discovering whether the mines were effective—all these reasons make it certain that the Merrimac was deliberately guided to her destruction. It was not a Spanish victory. It was a cleverly arranged scheme on the part of the American Admiral, and it was successful. The eight men in a Spanish prison are the real heroes of the war.

If the Merrimac went in under her own crew it is interesting to know that her complement of officers consisted of Commander J. M. Miller, Lieut. W. W. Gilmer, executive officer; Ensigns, J. R. Y. Blakely and J. M. Luby, and Assistant Engineer R. K. Crank. Miller is from Missouri, Gilmer from Virginia, Luby and Crank from Texas. It is expected that reports will be received to-day from Admiral Sampson which will give details of the Merrimac's destruction and the names of the eight men who have been captured.

Merrimac Is a Collier.

The Santiago advises to Cape Haytien, in referring to the sunken vessel as an auxiliary cruiser, probably mistake her character. The Merrimac is a collier and always has been a collier. She was acquired for this purpose at the outbreak of the war. The Merrimac sailed from Hampton Roads with Commodore Schley's fleet and was before Cienfuegos May 23, when Schley's fleet coaled from her. It is probable that the Merrimac had exhausted her coal supply and that Admiral Sampson ordered her to risk the guns of the fort in the hope of being sunk by torpedoes and block the channel against the escape of Cervera. The Merrimac was probably manned by a volunteer crew of just sufficient number to run the ship, who prepared to leap when the explosion should come.

Howard-Baker Feud.

Pineville, Ky., June 4.—The Howard-Baker feud is raging in Clay county. Lillie Baker was killed last night. James Garrard has fled to Middleboro. Judge Brown will not be allowed to hold court on Monday. It is said that Gov. Bradley has been solicited for troops to protect court, but has none to send. Six men have been killed in the last ten days.

CITY LEVY FIXED.

Interesting Session of the Council Last Night.

Assessor's Report Shows a Falling Off in City Assessment For 1898.

When the council was called to order by Mayor F. W. Dabney, at eight o'clock, every member of the Board was in his seat.

The report of the Finance committee was rendered by councilman Ware, chairman of that committee. It was moved that the accounts as audited by the committee be allowed. Mr. Ware, while not opposing the motion, suggested that Mr. Roake, sexton of the cemetery, be instructed to exercise more care in making promiscuous bills.

The claims were then allowed.

A lengthy discussion of the ordinance assessing and taxing dogs was precipitated and it was found that they had not been assessed since 1896. Although the ordinance had not been repealed. This discussion grew out of several requests to release payment of assessments on dogs.

Complaints were preferred against the Gas Company by residents of the first ward in the vicinity of the Gas Works. It was charged that the sewerage was very offensive and detrimental to the health.

Mr. W. T. Tandy appeared for the company. He said that the company was willing to act upon any suggestion that the council might make. The absence of a city sewerage system was responsible for the condition. Mr. Tibbs moved that the Gas Company be ordered to abate the nuisance at once. Mr. Tandy asked that a committee be appointed to confer with the Gas Company relative to the most feasible plans. Mr. Ware amended Mr. Tibbs' motion allowing the Mayor to appoint a committee on behalf of the council. The amendment prevailed. As a matter of temporary relief Mr. Tandy promised that the sewers should be flushed Monday morning. Messrs. Wall, Tibbs and Brasher were appointed by the Mayor. The discussion consumed more than an hour.

Having disposed of this question temporarily, the Board again took up the question of the assessment of dogs for taxation. The Assessor explained that it wastefully understood among the members of the council in 1897, although it does not appear upon the record of any meeting, that there should be no assessment, but that the chief should make a note of the owners of all dogs and collect $1 for each dog and issue a tag to the owner thereof. The law which had become a nullity by default was revived.

The tax levy for 1898 was on motion fixed. The city assessor stated that the total assessment for the year amounted to $1,987,038, for whites and $147,020, for colored property owners. The figures for the preceding year were, white, $2,037,315, colored, $155,000, a falling off of $58,000. The city assessor attributes the heavy falling off to losses in building and loan stocks during the past year. The council, after some discussion, agreed upon $1.50 on the $100, as the levy, $1.00 of which should go to the city fund and 50c to the school fund.

The council adjourned for a brief executive session, after which the members dispersed.

ALARM OF FIRE.

Caused By a Large Basket of Clothes Being Ignited.

An alarm of fire was turned in shortly after two o'clock yesterday afternoon. It created the usual amount of excitement on the streets and in the vicinity of the engine house.

A couple of gentlemen passing the residence of Mr. A. H. Clark, on Campbell street, noticed smoke issuing from the rear of the house and found that neither Mr. Clark nor his wife was aware of the proximity of danger. A large basket filled with clothes on a back porch had in some mysterious way become ignited and but for timely assistance might have communicated to the building. All danger was over when the department arrived.

An Office Flooded.

A water pipe in W. F. Garnett & Co.'s office burst Saturday afternoon and flooded the office. The water ran through the floor and did considerable damage to the goods in Richards & Co.'s store underneath. The water ran several minutes before a plumber could be summoned to stop it.

Buildings Accepted.

Mr. Hutchins, the Louisville architect who drew the plans for the asylum additions, came down from Louisville Friday and after a careful examination and inspection of the buildings formally accepted them on behalf of the State, releasing the commissioners from further responsibility. The improvements represent an expenditure of $60,000.

Will Open a Canning Factory.

Guthrie is soon to have a canning factory that will utilize all the surplus vegetables in Todd and surrounding counties. A canning company will be organized at once and this year's crop will be worked up.

For the Impatient.

President Lincoln's first call for 75,000 volunteers was issued April 15, 1861, and the battle of Bull Run was fought July 21. Over three months had been consumed in mobilizing and drilling an army not nearly as large as the one now in camp, and yet the government found to its cost that the troops were very raw.—Indianapolis Journal.

Two Colored Recruits.

Lieut. Johnson, of the Tenth Colored Cavalry, recruited two more colored troopers for his regiment yesterday and sent them on the 11:16 train last night to Fort McPherson. They were James Jackson and John Glover, both residents of this city.

With the enemy making no effort to get out, it looks like the Merrimac was wasted.

THE DAILY KENTUCKIAN appears in six-page form this morning, to make room for the unusual demand for advertising space.

Now that the bond people have got what they went after, let the war be brought to a close. There is no longer any pretext for delay.

The President is still nominating generals and the country is seriously threatened with another army of generals.

There is very little news to interest Southern readers in the list of generals appointed by the President. Most of them are unknown in the South.

Kentucky's entire force of three regiments of infantry and two troops of cavalry has been sent, or will be sent, to Chickamauga. Others will do the dress parade business at Washington.

The Americans have plucked the Spaniards in at Santiago and the Spanish have plucked the Americans out at Cardenas. Now that there are no holes in the fence, the dogs of war will proceed to "sick" themselves on each other.

The First Kentucky regiment has been ordered to Chickamauga, but will not be ready to move for several days, probably not before Wednesday. Four companies were mustered into the Federal service Friday and the rest yesterday.

It is all very well from one point of view to sacrifice a ship to block Santiago channel and keep Cervera in, but another question arises. How are we going to get in to destroy his fleet? We still believe Dewey's plan was better.

The press boys are preparing to have a great time at Macinac this year, but for once the editor of the Kentuckian cannot be with them. He is sitting up 'o' nights with an infant daily that requires all his attention.

We began the war on account of the starvation policy of the Spaniards, and then at once adopted the same policy ourselves, applying it alike to friends and foes in the beleaguered cities of Havana and Santiago. The consistency in this is not visible to the naked eye.

Every effort is being made to improve the KENTUCKIAN's carrier service in the city. The carriers are started out on their routes at 5 o'clock and subscribers should receive their papers all over the city by 6:30 a. m. Papers are required to be delivered on the doorsteps and not thrown in the yards. Any irregularities reported will be promptly remedied.

The Kentuckians at Chickamauga celebrated their arrival in Georgia by trying to lynch a colored soldier from Maine for cursing a white sentinel who refused to let him cross his picket line at will. They had secured a rope, climbed a tree and were preparing for the swinging up when the officers appeared and stopped the proceeding. Being near Rome (Ga.) they thought it proper to do as Romans do.

The withdrawal of Ollie James from the Congressional race in the First district is regarded by Democrats generally as a deliberate and patriotic sacrifice of personal ambition to avoid a contest inside the party at this time. Without disparagement to Charlie Wheeler, who has made an excellent record, it can be truthfully said that Ollie James is easily the most popular Democrat in his district and the best posted politician in the Purchase. He would have been nominated. His time will come later.

The war revenue bill has been agreed upon as it will become a law. It provides for the issue of $300,000,000 of bonds and $100,000,000 of certificates of indebtedness. The vote upon the final amendments was 45 to 31. Caffery, Lindsay, Faulkner, Gorman, Gray, Mitchell, and Murphy voting with the Republicans for bonds and Butler, Cannon, Helfield, Jones, Mantle, Pettigrew, Rawlins, Roach, Stewart, and Teller, voting with the Democrats. The Wolcott amendments taking the place of the seigniorage amendment proposed by the Democrats, was passed by a vote of 48 to 31. It is as follows:

"That the secretary of the Treasury shall, immediately upon the passage of this act, cause to be coined, as fast as possible in standard silver dollars, to an amount of not less than $4,000,000 per month, which shall be of like weight and fineness and of like legal tender quality as those provided for under existing law, all the silver bullion now in the treasury.

"That the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized and directed to issue, as said silver in coined, silver certificates of like denomination and quality, payable and redeemable in like manner as those authorized by law, to the amount of the gain of seigniorage derived from the purchases of silver bullion by the Treasury under the act of July 14, 1890, until the sum of $42,000,000 shall have been issued.

"That all said money so coined, including the amounts of the gains or seigniorage so coin shall be used both for the redemption of the Treasury notes heretofore issued under and by virtue of the act of July 14, 1890, and for the redemption of the certificates issued under this act."

That controversy between Pike and Oldham is waxing warmer: Oldham says:

"Yes, and we are ready to fight, bleed and die in defense of our assertion that the 'personal pulchritude' of the Trenton girls can not be surpassed on land or sea. If Brother Pike don't like the sound of those final remarks, all he's got to do is to say so by the Telephone, of course."

Pike says:

"So certain are we of the merit of our claim that we would consent for Editor Meacham to pass upon the controversy. If our Trenton neighbor has the courage of his convictions let him say the word with the full knowledge of the fact that it would be treasonable for our nominee to arbitrate. He is a good judge of such matters."

Since we are asked to decide, we will settle the contrary by splitting the difference and deciding that the prettiest girls are to be found half way between the contending towns.

Between papa and the politicians there will be many inexperienced officers in our new army.

As the Spaniards are not expert marksmen, Gen. Miles may wear as gaudy a uniform as he likes.

"A Glass Famine" is a headline in one of the morning papers. This is pretty hard on the glass-eaters.

As soon as the army gets its supplies of potatoes and onions it will be expected to go to planting Spaniards.

Orator Webster Davis' clock of ages is a good thing, but who will wind it when Webster Davis will have passed to eternity.

May weather in Chicago must have been of the Klondike variety. A man found dead on Fullerton avenue had on three pairs of trousers.

If the President stopped the war long enough to receive Mr. Wurzburger it is entirely proper for the friends of Mr. Wurzburger to say that he saw him.

SUCCESSFUL.

Experiments with Wireless Telegraphy by a Scientist.

Every seat in Carnegie Music hall was occupied recently at the lecture on "Wonders of Modern Science," delivered by W. J. Clark, of New York. Mr. Clark does not pretend to be a magician or a wizard, but he certainly did some very wonderful things. His lecture was one of the most interesting heard in this city for a long time, and the audience had an opportunity to learn more about the possibilities of electricity than they had ever imagined.

The lecturer showed how wireless telegraphy was possible, and gave a practical illustration with a transmitter on one table and a receiver on another table at the opposite side of the stage. The transmitter, he said, consists of a row of small metal balls, mounted upon a wooden base. The outside balls are connected with the terminals of an induction coil. When the current from a few cells of battery is passed through this coil by means of an ordinary telegraphic key, minute sparks pass between the balls, which are placed very close together. This causes violent oscillation or disturbance, and electric waves of great rapidity are sent out into space and travel through the air or whatever obstacle may obstruct their path until they strike the receiver at a distant point.

The receiver consists of a small glass tube, in which are placed two tightly fitting plugs of metal, within a very short distance of each other. The space between the plugs is filled with a minute quantity of metallic filings, the entire tube being suitably connected with a specially arranged telegraphic outfit and local batteries. While the filings in the tube are lying loosely in their normal state, the resistance which they offer to the passage of the battery current is so very great that practically no current is allowed to pass. But the moment the invisible electric waves from the distant transmitter strikes the glass tube the filings rearrange themselves and cling to each other, forming practically a solid mass of metal between the two plugs. This rearrangement of the filings immediately reduces the resistance to almost nothing, so that the current from the battery readily passes and operates the telegraph apparatus.

Prof. Clark's experiment was entirely successful. He said wireless telegraphy could be made immediate use of for operating electric bells, signaling to ships at sea, operating district telegraph call bells and for experimental work in colleges.—Pittsburgh Press.

THE KING OF THE WOODS.

Mimased the Mocking-Bird—The "Yankee" Among Birds.

Very few persons ever visit the southern portion of the United States and become at all familiar with its woodland life without being captivated by that prince of singers, the mocking bird. Not only as a musician, but in general "smartness," he is far and away ahead of anything else that flies. He is the "Yankee" among birds. In vivacity, in cleverness, in a quick and dexterous use of his small but brilliant tongue, he is very hard to point out his equal. And when in the springtime the woods resound with his clear, dulcet, and exultant notes, even the man, if such there be, "who hath no music in his soul" would find it hard to resist the contagious good humor of his glad and gleeful song.

And yet the mocking bird (Mimus polyglottus) is incorrectly named. He is by no means a natural mimic. Half a dozen birds could be mentioned in this particular for surpassing him. This may seem a very strange thing to say, in view of the stories current so abundantly illustrating and emphasizing this supposed gift.

Prof. Chandler, in a notable case in a Boston court, once remarked that it was practically impossible for most people to tell the truth even if they tried. Especially is this the case in observing scientific phenomena by persons not trained in that special field. Imagination often plays strange tricks with the recording cameras in such excited brains.

Norman Robinson, in Appleton's Popular Science Monthly.

Explanatory Details.

"The first night of my engagement," remarked Mr. Barnard, "Barnes, tragedian, 'We turned people away'."

"That was gratifying," replied the friend.

"I can't say that it was. You see, the local papers got the advertisements mixed and the impression went abroad that our theater was giving the minstrel show."—Washington Star.

GAUL AND BRITON.

Triumph of the English Language in Louisiana.

The announcement that the Louisiana constitutional convention, in session in New Orleans, proposes to drop French as one of the official languages of the state, is a lively element of surprise to many people who had never supposed that French could be an official language anywhere in this country. It seems indeed odd at this distance that the publication in French of legal documents and official notices has been a necessary formality in any state beneath the stars and stripes. But the well-known persistent inability of creoles to understand English in the days before the war continued the traditions of the past. Since the general overturning of the fortunes and influence attendant upon the new order of things the creole young people have become more Americanized. They all speak French and English with equal fluency.

Of the 134 delegates composing the present convention, only 21 were of French descent, and it is said that many of old the creole families are represented by men who do not speak French. The struggle of the French tongue to maintain its ascendancy in Louisiana since the annexation in 1803 has been very interesting. That it has taken 96 years for the language of the dominating Anglo-Saxon race to drive out its ancient lingual foe proves the strength of the latter. Spanish and German families have been absorbed by the French and have become French names. There have been changed into more musical Gallic syllables.

It is true that there are still about 15,000 French speaking men in Louisiana, and perhaps three times as many women and children, but they live chiefly in the remote districts and they are rapidly learning English. Often, without doubt, it is the sort of English Cable's "Bonaventure" taught his pupils, but at all events it is not French, nor creole patois. A writer in the Sun commenting on the present state of affairs has this to say concerning the schooling of the descendants of the people from the Land of Evangeline:

"A more efficient system of public schools in the Acadian parishes would very soon get rid of it, at least of the Creole patois. The French language in Louisiana is a dying language, still speaking it, but not as an official language, and it will in time disappear. The court proceedings will no longer be carried on in that tongue, as was so frequently the case of old, and a legislator who has the misfortune to know the language will be interrupted with cries of 'traduction'—translation—and demands that his speech be translated by the official interpreter for the benefit of the members who speak only English."

And in regard to the capital: "But the language has lost ground in southern Louisiana and New Orleans, the French influence has maintained itself. The customs and usages are almost entirely French, the fashions French, as well as the mode of life, the holidays. The French is the language of the Italian. The music, French, even to the tremolo, and Wagner is adored. The paintings are French, the cuisine essentially French or creole. The people themselves do not recognize the full extent of Gallic influence in Louisiana. It is a remarkable instance of the triumph of French ideas, tastes and customs, at the same time that the English language has been victorious over its Gallic adversary. The strength of that language is evidenced in its success and the strong prejudice and patriotism of the creoles and French. Of all the struggles English has had, none has been harder or longer than that in Louisiana against the French."

"The Catholic church has been the most stalwart supporter of the French language in Louisiana, and it has perhaps more than anything else kept that language strong and vital. The creoles have always insisted on a French archbishop, and their influence in the church was strong enough to win. This became an important issue in the hands of an archbishop, and the French influence was again triumphant in the election of a few months ago of the present occupant of the archiepiscopal see. But even in the Catholic church French is losing ground. In the sugar industry the French or creoles have lost much of their influence and most of the large plantations have passed into the hands of Americans or American companies. They have lost ground in the retail trade, and in the professions, in finance, and in other branches they hold their own. But the old sentimental tie which connects them with France is almost entirely gone, and there are no truer Americans anywhere in the country."

This is shown even the absorbing and assimilating power of this republic and her mother tongue.

Superstitions Woods.

A philologist estimates that of every 100 words in the French language 13 are superfluous.

THE CINEMATOGRAPH.

As an Aid to the Study of Astronomy.

When the first animated photographs were shown, few persons could have imagined that the cinematograph would shortly be used as a means of teaching astronomy. This is, however, the latest application of the invention. M. Camille Flammarion, the well-known French astronomer, has undertaken the task of photographing, or "cinematographing," the sky. The other day he informed a correspondent that he was well satisfied with the results he had already obtained. As there is no cinematographic machine which could work from sunset to sunrise, and as the apparent movement of the celestial bodies is very slow, M. Flammarion contacts himself with taking, between 2,000 and 3,000 photographs of the firmament every night when the sky is clear. He contends that they will be amply sufficient to show the motion of the moon, stars and planets without any perceptible break in the continuity. It appears that the cinematograph is being used in a very different way from the way in which it is commonly used. It was his intention to treat the spots on the sun in the same way, and that he hoped very shortly to be able, with the cinematograph, to show the inhabitants of our little planet the movements of those formidable voraces of fire in the sun's atmosphere which are called sunspots. He also intended to show the breaking of the waves of the ocean as now shown. Even that is not, however, all. M. Flammarion's ambition is to complete his work by photographing all the phases of the planets, and in presenting them to the public means of the cinematograph. He thinks that with patience that task will not present insurmountable obstacles. It is at present impossible, and it will probably always remain impossible, to photograph the movement of the earth in space as seen from the moon, or from the other planets; but with the object of producing the illusion, M. Flammarion has photographed a globe he constructed for the purpose and placed in a hall in front of a background representing the sky. The globe, lighted by one single source of light, representing the sun, and revolved, by means of a clockwork arrangement, was photographed for the cinematograph. The animated photographs representing that scene, shown by M. Flammarion at the last meeting of the French Astronomical society, were greatly admired, and were heartily applauded for their author.—London Standard.

LAW FOR FAT MEN.

Curious Case Recently Decided in a French Court.

The correctional court at Lille, France, had a curious case before it recently, when an unusually fat man, named Payelle, who turns the scale at 340 pounds, was summoned for contravening the regulations of the railway company. Payelle, who is a chemist, paid for a third-class ticket, but on account of his size he could not get into either a third or second-class compartment. He, therefore, took a seat in a first-class vehicle, and refused to pay the difference in the fares. He argued that when the company sold him a third-class ticket it was for them to find him a place in a third-class carriage, and as he could not get into one he was entitled to take a place in the only carriage the doorway of which was big enough to admit him.

The court did not agree with the views he expressed, but upheld the contention of the railway company, which argued that if he could not get into a third-class carriage he should take a ticket entitling him to ride in a compartment of the class into which he could squeeze himself. The court decided that, as only a first-class vehicle could hold him, he should have booked first-class. It therefore ordered him to pay the difference in the fares and all the costs of the case.—London Telegraph.

In the Superlative Degree.

The finest gardens in the world are the royal gardens at Kew, England. They cover an area of about 270 acres, and are visited by about 1,500,000 persons a year. The gardens contain the finest collection of exotic plants in the world, a palm house, a winter garden, a museum, an observatory and a school for gardeners.

The largest geyser in the world is the Excelsior geyser in Yellowstone park. Its basin is 200 feet across and 330 feet deep. This basin is full of boiling water, from which clouds of steam are constantly ascending. At long intervals water is spouted into the air to a height of from 50 to 300 feet.

The deepest hole in the earth is at Schladebach, near Ketschan, Germany. It is 5,735 feet in depth and is for geologic research only. The drilling was begun in 1880 and stopped six years later because the engineers were unable with their instruments to go deeper. This hole was expensive, as its cost was $53,000.

The largest stock yards in the world are in Chicago. The combined plants represent an investment of over $10,000,000. The yards contain twenty miles of streets, twenty miles of water troughs, fifty miles of feeding troughs and seventy-five miles of water and drainage troughs. The yards are capable of receiving and accommodating daily 20,000 cattle, 20,000 sheep and 120,000 hogs.

The greatest banquet in history took place on August 18, 1889, when the 40,000 mayors of France sat at the table in the Palais de l'Industrie in Paris. There were three relays of about 13,000 guests each. To prepare the feast required 75 chief cooks, 1,300 waiters, scullions, cellarmen and helpers 80,000 plates, 52,000 glasses, knives, forks and
